

Complement your coverage with a range of services

At AIG, we're always looking for proactive ways to keep your family and property out of harm's way. Learn more about the risk management services<sup>1</sup> at your disposal, all of which are managed by our in-house team of experts:

For homeowners

Property Valuations

It is critical to verify that the coverage in your homeowners' policy is sufficient in the event of a significant covered loss. A home's real estate value is not an accurate indicator of the cost to rebuild it from the ground up. We therefore take pride in our ability to identify the architectural features and craftsmanship that make a home unique—and help uncover its true value. Our team stays current and educated on building trends, technological advances, economic influences, geographical nuances, building codes and other factors that affect the cost of rebuilding a home.

Vulnerability Assessments

Our risk managers and inspection vendors have an eye for circumstances that increase the likelihood of water damage, fires, burglary or accidents that put your loved ones and property at risk. They can educate you or your household staff on ways to reduce the impact of storms, wildfires, earthquakes or freezing temperatures. In some instances, technology solutions—automated water shut-off devices, seismic shut off devices, low temperature sensors or ember resistant wildfire vents, for example—can be recommended as well.

Leaks are one of the most common causes of property damage.

Water Damage Protection

With proper guidance—such as identifying the need to replace outdated water supply lines or an old water heater—we can help you reduce a home's vulnerability to water damage. Also, through our relationship with Water Security Solutions, LLC, our clients can access exclusive savings on a variety of water shut-off systems, sensors and mitigation devices.

Smart Build

AIG has a long history of bringing sound risk management practices to the construction of many of the world's most significant buildings. We are bringing this same approach and expertise to private residences, helping homeowners well before construction begins. Our risk managers are experienced in identifying the most common causes of loss for home construction projects budgeted at $5 million or more. We can work with you to enhance site safety during your home's construction, maximize your family's safety once it's finished, lessen the likelihood of loss and ultimately save on insurance.

Thermography Examinations

Inspections with infrared cameras can identify hidden hazards such as moisture in walls from concealed leaks or hot circuit boxes and switches so you can address small problems before they snowball into something bigger. We have risk managers across the country who are certified level-one thermographers equipped with the latest technology in high-resolution cameras.

Historic Home Services

You appreciate the beauty and craftsmanship of historic homes and buildings, and you've chosen to live in one that reflects those values. So you also know that those buildings—even ones built as relatively recently as the 1940s—have unique architectural details that require specialized preservation and maintenance techniques. We can help you learn more about your home's unique history, as well as give you access to world-renowned experts to help you preserve its legacy.

Wildfire Protection Unit®

Some of the most beautiful locations where you can make your home are also prone to natural disasters such as wildfires. Fortunately, there are steps you can take to protect your family and home long before smoke clouds the view. Our Wildfire Protection Unit—the first of its kind—helps reduce your risks and prevent losses.

In areas prone to major storms, it's only a matter of time until your family and home are impacted by one.

Hurricane Protection Unit®

Smart preparation before a storm, combined with quick action immediately after the event, can make the difference between a home that suffers catastrophic damage and one that comes through relatively unscathed. Hurricane loss prevention is a challenge where experience counts for a lot—and we were the first company to offer it through our Hurricane Protection Unit.

Earthquake Protection Unit

Your home is unique. The way it endures an earthquake could be very different from your neighbors' properties. The Earthquake Protection Unit provides hands-on preparation to assist with maximizing readiness. Our specialists can conduct an on-site evaluation well in advance of an event and make recommendations to help you safeguard your family and lessen the likelihood of loss.

For collectors

Art Collection Management

Whether you have spent a lifetime acquiring a world-class collection, inherited family heirlooms, or purchased objects to decorate a home, your collection has both financial value and sentimental worth. Preserving value on both fronts requires an ongoing effort, and our Art Collection Management team is here to help. Among the services we provide are coverage reviews, vulnerability assessments, emergency planning and more.

For yacht owners

Yacht Loss Prevention

The only thing that can detract from the feeling of freedom you have on your yacht is the realization of the added exposure to risk and damage that boating brings—risks that only grow with the size and complexity of your vessel. Our suite of yacht loss prevention services is designed to maximize the security of your vessel, provide further education and training for your crew, and enhance your family's safety and well-being while they're on-board.

For families

Family Safety and Security

From burglary to lawsuits brought by household staff, even extortion and ransom demands, your family may be exposed to a range of threats due to your success. Personal, confidential security consultations help you evaluate the risks you face and how you can protect against them. We can help you prepare—whether that means an assessment of your home's security, crafting a family emergency plan or identifying potential liability threats. Some preventative steps you take to address those issues may also enable you to reduce your premiums.

Success comes with many advantages—but it also can increase the risks you face.

Access to preliminary background checks<sup>2</sup>

No matter how highly recommended they are, the household help, groundskeepers and other private staff who have day-to-day access to your home and family need to be vetted carefully. We offer access to background checks through a highly reputable screening firm, enabling you to screen current or potential employees' criminal records, driving records, bankruptcy filings as well as verify employment history, education and other credentials.
